

Mick Fuller, Director of HR
Quiksilver

"Leading Teams have been used extensively over the past 6 months to help us refine our leadership culture across all our Aust & NZ business units. Their straight-talking philosophy has seen a tangible improvement in team dynamics, quality of leadership through greater awareness of leader actions (and in-actions), and has provided an avenue for employees at all levels to buy into how their team will be defined going forward to make them the best they can be. In an industry where people really are a key differentiator and a source of competitive advantage, this program is proving exceptionally valuable."

